

A. Heller, S. Puntischer Riekmann (Eds.)

---

Biopolitics.
The Politics of the Body, Race and Nature

European Centre Vienna

---

Avebury

---

The present volume is a collection of papers given at a conference on “Biopolitics. The Politics of the Body, Race and Nature”, held in Vienna in May 1994. The conference was based on the book Biopolitics by Ferenc Fehér and Agnes Heller published by the European Centre in Spring 1994. The authors of this volume from various standpoints discuss and evaluate the central thesis of the book stating that after the defeat of the grand narrative, the idea of difference promised freedom, tolerance and free play. Instead, new dangers emerged. The politics of difference became used as a new brand of identity politics; race-thinking, biofeminism, and ethnic strife occupied the space that has been abandoned by the grand old ideas. New kinds of intolerance, new practices of violence appeared. Thus the main question resulting from this latest trend is: What are its implications for modern liberal democracy based on universal human rights?

Agnes Heller is Hannah Arendt Professor of Philosophy at the New School for Social Research, New York, and Member of the External Faculty of the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research, Vienna. Sonja Puntscher Riekmann is Research Fellow at the Institute for Socio-Economic Research of the Austrian Academy of Sciences and Consultant of the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research, Vienna, where she worked as a Researcher from 1992 to 1995.

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Preface	ix
PART I: THE SCOPE OF BIOPOLITICS	1
Chapter 1 Has Biopolitics Changed the Concept of the Political? Some Further Thoughts About Biopolitics Agnes Heller	3
Chapter 2 Modern “Barbarity”: A Micro-State of Nature? Claus Offe	17
Chapter 3 The Order of Bodies Péter György	41
PART II: CASE-STUDIES ON BIOPOLITICS	55
Chapter 4 Biopolitics on the Ruins of Communism Ferenc Fehér	57
Chapter 5 Ambiguities of the Ecological Movement in Germany Iring Fetscher	71
Chapter 6 Biopolitics, Postmodernism, and Cultural Policy. The Zero Tolerance Model of State Intervention in Canadian Higher Education John Fekete	83

Chapter 7	The Biopolitics of Work Anson Rabinbach	95
Chapter 8	Biopolitical Ideologies and Their Impact on the New Social Movements Klaus von Beyme	113
Chapter 9	The Politics of Predisposition. The Social Meaning of Predictive Biology Dorothy Nelkin	133
Chapter 10	Gender Parody as a Form of Resistance? Some Remarks on Judith Butler Herta Nagl-Docekal	143
Chapter 11	The Racialization of Immigration Policy. Biopolitics and Policy-making Martin A. Schain	157
	List of Contributors	179