

PIETER VANHUYSSSE

CV AND LIST OF PUBLICATIONS

(Last updated March 1st 2012)

1. PERSONAL DETAILS

Name: Pieter Vanhuyssse
Date of birth: 24 December 1974
Citizenship: Belgian
Current Position: Senior Researcher and Policy Analyst
Work address: European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research
(affiliated to the United Nations)
Berggasse 17, 1090 Vienna, Austria
Electronic Address: vanhuyssse@euro.centre.org
Academic homepage: <http://www.euro.centre.org/vanhuyssse>
SSRN author page: http://papers.ssrn.com/sol3/cf\_dev/AbsByAuth.cfm?per\_id=876624
h-index of scientific impact: 12
g-index of scientific impact: 18

2. HIGHER EDUCATION

2.1. POSTGRADUATE EDUCATION

The London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), England

1997 – 2003 PhD in Political Science; Government Department
Thesis Title: 'Divide and Pacify': The Political Economy of the Welfare State in Hungary and Poland, 1989-1996.
Supervisors: Prof. Brian Barry, 1997-1998 (subsequently at Columbia University)
Prof. Patrick Dunleavy, 1998-2003
Examiners: Prof. Nicholas Barr, (The European Institute, LSE)
Prof. Chris Pierson (Politics Department, University of Nottingham)
Date of Defense: 17 October 2003; PhD awarded without amendments to thesis.

1996 – 1997 MSc in European Politics and Policy; Government Department

2.2. UNDERGRADUATE EDUCATION

Catholic University of Leuven (KUL), Belgium

1994-1996 Master (Licence) in Economics
Graduated magna cum laude (81%), first of the year
Thesis supervisor: Professor Mark Eyskens MP, former Belgian Prime Minister and Federal Minister of Economics, Finance, and Foreign Affairs
1993-1995 Certificate of the Philosophical Academy
Graduated magna cum laude (77 %)
1992-1994 Bachelor (Candidature) in Applied Economics
Graduated magna cum laude (84%), first of the year

2.3. OTHER EDUCATION

July/Aug 1999	Essex University, Colchester, England Summer School in ‘Social Science Data Analysis and Collection’, organized by The European Consortium for Political Research
July 1998	The Central European University (CEU), Budapest, Hungary Summer School in Political Economy
Oct. 1995 - March 1996	University of Southampton, England Erasmus exchange student in the Department of Economics
Aug. 1995	Eberhardt-Karlsuniversität Tübingen, Germany Summer School in German Language and History
Aug. 1994	Université de Marseille-Aix-en-Provence, France Summer School in French Language and Culture

3. PREVIOUS ACADEMIC RANKS IN INSTITUTES OF HIGHER EDUCATION

Oct 2005-Feb 2010	University of Haifa, Israel, School of Political Sciences, Division of Public Administration and Policy	Assistant Professor, joint appointment with Education
March 2004- Feb 2010	University of Haifa, Israel, Faculty of Education, Department of Educational Leadership and Policy	Assistant Professor, joint appointment with Politics
March 2004- Sept 2004	University of Haifa, Israel, Faculty of Social Welfare and Health Studies, Department of Social Welfare	Lecturer, half position
Oct-2002-Oct 2004	University of Haifa, Israel	VATAT Post-Doctoral Research Fellow
Summers 2003, 2004, 2005	International University Institute for European Studies (IUIES) at Gorizia, Italy	Visiting Lecturer, Institute for International Sociology of Gorizia
Oct 2001- March 2002	The Institute for Advanced Study at Collegium Budapest, Hungary	Resident Fellow
Oct 1998-June 2001	London International Exchange Program of Hollins University, South Carolina, USA	Lecturer/Tutor

4. LIST OF PUBLICATIONS

A. PHD DISSERTATION

“Divide and Pacify: The Political Economy of the Welfare State in Hungary and Poland, 1989-1996”. PhD title awarded, without amendments to dissertation, Government Department of the London School of Economics (LSE), 17 October 2003.

B. BOOKS

1. AUTHORED BOOKS:

Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), Divide and Pacify: Strategic Social Policies and Political Protests in Post-Communist Democracies, Budapest-New York: Central European University Press, with a Foreword by Professor Janos Kornai.

- Nominated for The American Sociological Association's Distinguished Contribution to Scholarship Award for 2006, Section on Political Sociology.
- Website at CEU Press: <http://www.ceupress.com/books/html/DivideAndPacify.htm>
- Back cover endorsements by Nicholas Barr (LSE), Janos Kornai (Harvard University) and Kenneth Shepsle (Harvard University)
- 56 SSCI citations to date, 80 citations in Google Scholar
- 19 book reviews published (see Appendix 4 below):

Acta Politica, American Journal of Sociology, CEU Political Science Journal, Choice, Comparative Political Studies, Czech Sociological Review, East Central Europe/L'Europe du Centre-Est, European Sociological Review, Europe-Asia Studies, Gerontology, Intelligence & National Security, Journal of European Social Policy, Journal of Social Policy, Political Science Quarterly, Political Studies Review, Slavic Review, Slavonic and East European Review, Social Policy & Administration, and West European Politics.

2. EDITED BOOKS:

- 1. Vanhuyse, Pieter and Achim Goerres (eds) (2012) Ageing Populations in Post-Industrial Democracies: Comparative Studies of Policies and Politics. Abingdon: Routledge/ECPR Studies in European Political Science Series.

Most advanced democracies are experiencing accelerated population ageing. This fundamentally changes not just their demographic composition: it also can be expected to have far-reaching social, political and public policy consequences. Published on January 1st, 2012 to coincide with the start of the European Year of Active Ageing and Solidarity between the Generations, this book brings together an array of comparative empirical analyses dealing with generational politics and public policies in OECD democracies in a coherent political science approach. Contributors include:

Robert H Hudson (Boston University, USA)
Stefan Svallfors (Umea University, Sweden)
Sean Hanley (University College London, UK)
Andrej Kokkonen (Gothenburg University, Sweden)
Markus Tepe (University of Oldenburg, Germany)
Jennifer Sciubba (Rhodes College, USA)
Martin Hering (McMaster University, Canada)

- Website at Routledge: <http://www.routledge.com/books/details/9780415603829/>
- Back cover endorsements by Martin Kohli (EUI Florence), Wolfgang Lutz (Vienna Institute of Demography, IASSA, Economics University of Vienna), Julia Lynch (University of Pennsylvania), and Kent R Weaver (The Brookings Institution and Georgetown University)
- 3 SSCI citations to date, 2 citations in Google Scholar
- 5 book reviews forthcoming to date (see Appendix 6 below): Canadian Journal of Political Science, Intergenerational Justice Review, Journal of European Social Policy, Political Studies Review, Swiss Political Science Review

2. Cerami, Alfio and Pieter Vanhuysse (eds) (2009), Post-Communist Welfare Pathways: Theorizing Social Policy Transformations in Central and Eastern Europe, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan.

Published to coincide with the twentieth anniversary of the fall of the Berlin Wall, this book studies the systemic transformations of nine different CEE welfare states over the period 1989-2009 using an approach which acknowledges the merits of path-dependency and neo-institutionalist explanations, but goes beyond simple historical or institution-centred descriptions. The book discusses not only the specific social security culture of CEE countries, but also competing social policy ideas and discourses and the political factors that influence CEE social policy reform processes. Contributors include:

Claus Offe (Hertie School of Governance, Berlin)
Robert Kaufman (Rutgers University, USA)
Stephan Haggard (University of California at San Diego, USA).
Tomasz Inglot (Minnesota State University, USA)
Mitchell Orenstein (Johns Hopkins University, USA)

- Website at Palgrave Macmillan: <http://www.palgrave.com/products/title.aspx?PID=356457>
- Back cover endorsements by Linda Cook (Brown University), Anton Hemerijck (University of Amsterdam) and Vivien Schmidt (Boston University)
- 3 SSCI citations to date, 16 citations in Google Scholar
- 6 book reviews published to date (see Appendix 5 below):
Contemporary Sociology, Critical Social Policy, Osteuropa, Revue Française de Science Politique, Social Policy & Administration, and West European Politics

C. ARTICLES IN REFEREED JOURNALS

- EQUALLY AUTHORED WITH AUTHORS LISTED ALPHABETICALLY, UNLESS OTHERWISE STATED
- CITATIONS COUNT IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCE CITATION INDEX BETWEEN BRACKETS (EXCLUDING SELF-CITATIONS; LAST UPDATED MAY 2012)
- 2011 FIGURES FOR ISI IMPACT FACTORS IN APPENDIX 2

1. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2013), 'Parties, Unions, and Activation Strategies: The Context-Dependent Politics of Active Labor Market Policy Spending,' forthcoming, Political Studies, Vol. 61.
2. Adres, Eitan, Vanhuyse, Pieter & Vashdi, Dana (2012), 'The Individual's Level of Globalization and Commitment to the State: The Tendency to Evade Military Conscription in Israel,' Armed Forces & Society, Vol. 38, No. 1, pp. 92-116.
→ Presented at the Indiana Workshop in Political Theory and Policy Analysis, USA
http://www.indiana.edu/~workshop/colloquia/materials/spring2011\_all\_workshopcolloquia.html#032111
3. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2010), 'Who Cuts Back and When? The Politics of Delays in Social Expenditure Cutbacks, 1980- 2005,' West European Politics, Vol. 33, No. 6, pp. 1214-1240.
4. Gamliel-Yehoshua, Haya & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2010), 'The Pro-Elderly Bias of Social Policies in Israel: A Historical-Institutional Account,' Social Policy & Administration, Vol. 44, No. 6., pp 708-726.
5. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2010), 'Elderly Bias, New Social Risks, and Social Spending: Change and Timing in Eight Programs across Four Worlds of Welfare, 1980-2003', Journal of European Social Policy Vol. 20, No. 3, pp. 218-234. (3 SSCI citations)
6. Sabbagh, Clara & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2010), 'Intergenerational Justice Perceptions and the Role of Welfare Regimes: A Comparative Analysis of University Students,' Administration & Society Vol. 42, No. 6, pp. 638-667.
7. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter (2009), 'Educational Business Cycles: The Political Economy of Teacher Hiring across German States, 1992-2004,' Public Choice, Vol. 139, Nos. 1-2, pp. 61-82. (2 SSCI citations)
→ An earlier version of this paper was published online as: Leitner Working Paper No. 2007-24, New Haven, Yale University: Georg Leitner Program in International and Comparative Political Economy. See: <http://www.yale.edu/leitner/papers.html>
8. Vanhuyse, Pieter and Sulitzeanu-Kenan, Raanan (2009), 'Teacher's PAT? Multiple-Role Principal-Agent Theory, Education Politics, and the Power of Bureaucrats,' Critical Studies in Education, Vol. 50, No. 2, pp. 129-144. (First author.) (3 SSCI citations)
9. Tepe, Markus, and Vanhuyse, Pieter (2009), 'Are Aging OECD Welfare States on the Path to Gerontocracy? Evidence from 18 Democracies, 1980-2002,' Journal of Public Policy, Vol. 29, No. 1, pp. 1-28. (Lead article). (6 SSCI citations)
10. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2008), 'Review Article: Kneeling at the Altar of (Il-)liberalism: The Politics of Ideas, Job Loss and Union Weakness in East Central Europe,' International Labor and Working-Class History, Vol. 73, No. 1, pp. 137-151. (3 SSCI citations)

11. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2008), 'Review Article: The New Political Economy of Skill Formation,' Public Administration Review, Vol. 68, No. 5, pp. 955-959. (2 SSCI citations)
12. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2007), 'Workers without Power: Agency, Legacies, and Labour Decline in East European Varieties of Capitalism,' Czech Sociological Review, Vol. 43, No. 3, pp 495-522. (Lead article). (6 SSCI citations)
13. Sabbagh, Clara, Powell, Larry, & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2007), 'Betwixt and Between the Market and the State: Israeli Students' Welfare Attitudes in Comparative Perspective,' International Journal of Social Welfare, Vol. 16, No. 3, pp. 220-230. (2 SSCI citations)
14. Sabbagh, Clara & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), 'Exploring Attitudes towards the Welfare State: University Students' Views in Eight Democracies,' Journal of Social Policy, Vol. 35, No. 5, pp. 607-628. (4 SSCI citations)
15. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), 'The Political Quiescence of the New Democracies in Central and Eastern Europe: An Opportunity Cost Framework,' East European Quarterly, Vol. 40, No. 2, pp. 183-201.
16. Sabbagh, Clara, Resh, Nura, Mor, Michal & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), 'Spheres of Justice Within Schools: Reflections and Evidence on the Distribution of Educational Goods,' Social Psychology of Education, Vol. 9, No. 2, pp. 97-118. (Fourth author) (Lead article). (4 SSCI citations)
17. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), 'Review Article: Bees and Foxes, Spiders and Hedgehogs,' Education Review, Vol. 9, No.1, pp. 1-16. (Online at <http://edrev.asu.edu/essays/v9n1index.html>).
18. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2006), 'Czech Exceptionalism? A Comparative Political Economy Interpretation of Post-Communist Policy Pathways, 1989-2004', Czech Sociological Review, Vol. 42, No. 6, pp. 1115-1136. (Lead article). (1 SSCI citation)
→ Published in Italian as: Vanhuyse, Pieter (2007), 'Le Politiche Path-Dependent degli Stati Sociali Post-Comunisti: Una Prospettiva Strategica di Politica Pubbliche,' ('The Path-Dependent Politics of Post-Communist Welfare States: A Strategic Public Policy Perspective,' Futuribili (Futures), Vol. 7, No. 3, pp. 81-104.
19. Vanhuyse, Pieter & Sabbagh, Clara (2005), 'Review Article: Promoting Happiness, Respecting Difference? New Perspectives in the Politics and Sociology of Education in Liberal Democracy,' British Educational Research Journal, Vol. 31, No. 3, pp. 391-404. (First author).
20. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2004), 'East European Protest Politics in the Early 1990s: Comparative Trends and Preliminary Theories,' Europe-Asia Studies, Vol. 56, No. 3, pp. 421-438. (2 SSCI citations)
21. Pop, Liliana & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2004), 'Review Article: Varieties of Capitalism, Varieties of Theory? Conceptualizing Paths of Change and Patterns of Economic Interaction across Models of Market Democracy,' Journal of European Public Policy, Vol. 11, No. 1, pp. 167-177. (1 SSCI citation)

22. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2004), 'The Pensioner Booms in Post-Communist Hungary and Poland: Political Sociology Perspectives,' International Journal of Sociology and Social Policy, Vol. 24, Nos. 1-2, pp. 86-102. (5 SSCI citations)
23. Vanhuyse, Pieter & Sabbagh, Clara (2004), 'Review Article: Merging Dollars with Values: Rights and Resources in Education Worldwide,' International Studies in Sociology of Education, Vol. 14, No. 2, pp. 169-181. (First author). (1 SSCI citation)
24. Vanhuyse, Pieter & Del Bianco, Daniele (2003), 'La Paura Fa Sgranare Gli Occhi: L'Insolita Rilevanza Politica della Disoccupazione nei Paesi Post-Comunisti' ('Wide-Eyed with Fear: The Unusual Political Salience of Unemployment in Post-Communist Societies'), Futuribili (Futures), Vol. 3, pp. 35-52 (in Italian).
25. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2003), 'New Social Risks and Policy Responses for Twenty-First-Century Welfare States: Review Essay on Rosanvallon, Barr, and Esping-Andersen,' Social Policy and Administration, Vol. 37, No. 5, pp. 530-534.
26. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2002), 'Review Article: Efficiency in Politics: Competing Economic Approaches,' Political Studies, Vol. 50, No. 1, pp. 136-149. (1 SSCI citation)
27. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2001), 'Review Article: The Political Economy of Pensions: Western Theories, Eastern Facts,' Journal of European Public Policy, Vol. 8, No. 5, pp. 853-861.
28. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2001), 'The Household Economy and Contemporary Worlds of Welfare: Review Essay on Gosta Esping-Andersen's Social Foundations of Postindustrial Economies,' Government and Opposition, Vol. 36, No. 1, pp. 128-131.
29. Lelkes, Orsolya & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2001), 'Demokrácia és Jóléti Allam: Új Teóriák Régi Témákról' ('Democratic States, Welfare States: New Theories on Old Themes'), in Szociológiai Szemle, (The Hungarian Sociological Review), Vol. 11, No. 2, pp. 96-107 (in Hungarian).
30. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2000), 'On Sen's Liberal Paradox and its Reception within Political Theory and Welfare Economics,' Politics, Vol. 20, No. 1, pp. 25-31. (1 SSCI citation)
31. Vanhuyse, Pieter (1999), 'The Political Dynamics of Economic Reforms: Przeworski's Theory and the Case of Poland and Hungary,' East European Quarterly, Vol. 33, No. 4, pp. 491-515.

D. ARTICLES OR CHAPTERS IN BOOKS WHICH ARE NOT CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

5. Goerres, Achim & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2012), 'Mapping the Field: The Comparative Study of Generational Politics and Policies,' in Vanhuyse, Pieter & Goerres, Achim (eds), Ageing Populations in Post-industrial Democracies: Comparative Studies of Policies and Politics, Abingdon: Routledge/ECPR Studies in European Political Science, Chapter 1. (1 SSCI citation).
4. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter (2012), 'Accelerating Smaller Cutbacks to Delay Larger Ones? The Politics of Timing and Alarm Bells in OECD Pension Generosity Retrenchment,' in Vanhuyse, Pieter & Goerres, Achim (eds), Ageing Populations in Post-industrial Democracies: Comparative Studies of Policies and Politics, Abingdon: Routledge/ECPR Studies in European Political Science, Chapter 6.

3. Sabbagh, Clara, Vanhuysse, Pieter & Schmitt, Manfred (2010), 'Political and Economic Justice Perceptions in Changing Societies: The Case of Israeli and East German High School Students', in Jared A. Jaworski (ed), Advances in Sociology Research, Volume 6. New York: Nova Science, pp. 283-294. (1 SSCI citation)
2. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2009), 'Power, Order, and the Politics of Social Policy in Central and Eastern Europe,' in Cerami, Alfio and Pieter Vanhuysse (eds), Post-Communist Welfare Pathways: Theorizing Social Policy Transformations in Central and Eastern Europe, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, pp. 53-70. (3 SSCI citations)
1. Cerami, Alfio and Vanhuysse, Pieter (2009) 'Introduction: Social Policy Pathways, Twenty Years after the Fall of the Berlin Wall,' in Cerami, Alfio and Pieter Vanhuysse (eds), Post-Communist Welfare Pathways: Theorizing Social Policy Transformations in Central and Eastern Europe, Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan, pp. 1-14.

E. OTHER SCIENTIFIC PUBLICATIONS

BOOK REVIEWS

1. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2012), 'Review of James Fishkin and Robert Goodin eds. (2010), Population and Political Theory,' forthcoming, Social Policy & Administration.
  2. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2009), 'Review of Julia Lynch (2006), Age in the Welfare State: The Origins of Social Spending on Pensioners, Workers, and Children,' Journal of Social Policy, Vol. 38, No. 1, pp. 186-188.
  3. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2007) 'Review of David Ost (2005), The Defeat of Solidarity: Anger and Politics in Postcommunist Europe,' West European Politics, Vol. 30, No. 5, pp. 1214-1215.
  4. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2007), 'Review of Thomas Janoski, Robert Alford, Alexander Hicks and Mildred Schwartz (eds) (2005), The Handbook of Political Sociology: States, Civil Societies and Globalization,' Czech Sociological Review, Vol. 43, No. 6, pp.1219-1221.
  5. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2006), 'Review of Nicholas Barr (2005), Labor Markets and Social Policy in Central and Eastern Europe: The Accession and Beyond,' Journal of European Social Policy, Vol. 16, No.3, p. 309.
  6. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2006), 'Review of Toth, Istvan, Vukovich, Gyorgyi, and Kolosi, Tamas, eds (2004), Social Report 2004,' European Societies, Vol. 8, No. 1, pp. 199-200.
  7. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2005), 'Review of Albert O. Hirschman (2002), Shifting Involvements: Private Interest and Public Action,' 20th anniversary edition,' Constellations, Vol. 12, No. 1, pp. 151-153.
- Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/cons/r\_1351\_0487\_046\_1005623.asp
8. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2004), 'Review of Charles Tilly (2003), The Politics of Collective Violence,' British Journal of Sociology, Vol. 55, No. 1, pp. 158-159.
  9. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2004), 'Review of Roger Goodwin, James M. Jasper and Francesca Polletta, eds. (2001), Passionate Politics: Emotions and Social Movements,' West European Politics, Vol. 24, No. 1, pp. 166-167.
  10. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2004), 'Review of Robert Pinsky (2002), Democracy, Culture, and the Voice of Poetry,' Contemporary Political Theory, Vol. 3, No. 1, pp. 104-106.
  11. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2003), 'Review of Roger Dale Petersen (2002), Understanding Ethnic Violence,' Political Studies Review, Vol. 1, No. 3, pp. 242-425
- Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/psr/r\_1478\_9299\_1142\_1003360.asp
12. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2003), 'Review of Stephen J. Goodlad, ed. (2001), The Last Best Hope: A Democracy Reader,' Education Review online: <http://edrev.asu.edu/reviews/rev257.htm>

13. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2003), 'Review of Robert Marcuse (2002), The Sentimental Citizen: Emotion in Democratic Politics,' Political Studies Review, Vol. 1, No. 2, pp. 205-206.
→ Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/psr/r\_1478\_9299\_978\_1003553.asp
14. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2003), 'Review of Roger Dale Petersen (2001), Resistance and Rebellion: Lessons from Eastern Europe,' Social Movement Studies, Vol. 2, No. 2, pp. 238-239.
15. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2003), 'Review of Susan Stokes, ed. (2001), Public Support for Economic Reforms in New Democracies,' Acta Politica, Vol. 38, No. 4, pp. 391-392.
16. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'How and Why: Speder's Hungary in Flux: Society, Politics and Transformation,' Budapest Review of Books, Vol. 12, No.s 1-2, pp. 61-62.
17. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'Review of Bernard Lewis (2002), What Went Wrong? Western Impact and Middle Eastern Response,' Political Studies Review, Vol. 1, No. 1, p. 114.
→ Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/psr/r\_1478\_9299\_935\_1003510.asp
18. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'Review of Grzegorz Ekiert and Jan Kubik (1999), Rebellious Civil Society: Popular Protest and Democratic Consolidation in Poland, 1989-1993,' Democratization, Vol. 9, No. 1, pp. 231-233.
19. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'Review of Arthur Lupia, Mathew McCubbins, Samuel L. Popkin, eds. (2000), Elements of Reason: Cognition, Choice and the Bounds of Rationality,' Kyklos, Vol. 55, No. 3, pp. 436-438.
20. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'Review of Raymond Boudon, (2001), The Origin of Values: Essays in the Sociology and Philosophy of Beliefs,' Acta Sociologica, Vol. 45, No. 3, pp. 240-242.
21. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2002), 'Review of Bela Greskovits (1998), The Political Economy of Protest and Patience: Latin American and East European Transitions Compared,' British Journal of Sociology, Vol. 52, No. 4, pp. 716-718.
22. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Mancur Olson and Satu Kakhonen, eds. (2000), A Not-So-Dismal Science: A Broader View of Economies and Societies,' West European Politics, Vol. 24, No. 4, pp. 236-237.
23. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of James M. Buchanan and Richard A. Musgrave (2000), Public Finance and Public Choice: Two Contrasting Visions of the State,' Political Studies, Vol. 49, No. 1, pp. 129-130.
→ Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/post/r\_0032\_3217\_277\_17721.asp
24. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Adam Przeworski, Bernard Manin, and Susan Stokes, eds. (1999), Democracy, Accountability, and Representation,' Representation, Vol. 38, No. 1, pp. 91-92.
25. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Mancur Olson (2000), Power and Prosperity: Outgrowing Communist and Capitalist Dictatorships,' West European Politics, Vol. 24, No. 1, pp. 235-236.
26. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Chris Pierson and Francis Castles, eds. (2000), The Welfare State Reader,' Political Studies, Vol. 49, No. 1, p. 144.
→ Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/post/r\_0032\_3217\_299\_17743.asp
27. Vanhuysse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Robert Goodin and Deborah C. Mitchell, eds. (2000), The Foundations of the Welfare State, Volumes I, II, and III,' Political Studies, Vol. 49, No. 2, pp. 337-339.
→ Also published at Political ReviewNet:
http://www.politicalreviewnet.com/polrev/reviews/post/r\_0032\_3217\_359\_17803.asp

28. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2001), 'Review of Anthony B. Atkinson (1999), The Economic Consequences of Rolling Back the Welfare State,' Journal of European Social Policy, Vol. 11, No. 1, pp. 86-88.

EDITORIALS:

1. Vanhuyse Pieter (2008), 'Introduction: Advances in the Study of Post-Communist States and Public Administrations,' Czech Sociological Review, Vol. 44, No. 6, pp. 1151-1154.
2. Vanhuyse, Pieter, and Vecernik, Jiri (2008), 'Letter from the Editors,' Czech Sociological Review, Vol. 44, No. 3, pp. 467-468.

RESEARCH REPORTS AND POSITION PAPERS:

6. Fuchs, Michael, Leichsenring, Kai, Marin, Bernd, Ruppe, Georg, and Vanhuyse, Pieter (2012), Wirkungsweisen und Effekte von Geldleistungen und Sachleistungen im Sozialbereich (Mechanisms and Effects of Cash and In-Kind Benefits for Social Policy), Vienna: Vienna City Hall, MA 24, 161 pp.
5. Gasior, Katrin, Lelkes, Orsolya, Vanhuyse, Pieter and Waginger, Ulrike (2011), Vergleichende Analyse der Teilhabechancen in Europa (Comparative Analysis of Social Inclusion in Europe), Berlin: German Federal Ministry of Social Affairs and Labor, 175 pp.
4. Gasior, Katrin, Marin, Bernd, Schmidt, Andrea, Vanhuyse, Pieter, Waginger, Ulrike and Zólyomi, Eszter (2011), Maßnahmen zur Belebung des Arbeitsmarktes für ältere Arbeitnehmer/innen (Labor Market Activation Measures for Older Workers). Vienna: Austrian Federal Ministry for Labor, Social Affairs and Consumer Protection, 185 pp.
3. Fuchs, Michael, Pieter Vanhuyse and Gabriele Schmied (2010), City Portraits - Vienna, Brussels, Hamburg, Lisbon, Prague and Stockholm: Analysis and Comparison of Welfare Systems in Selected European Metropolises (in German). Vienna City Hall, MA 24: Wiener Sozialpolitische Schriften, Vol. 1, 310 pp.
Online at: <http://www.wien.gv.at/gesundheit/einrichtungen/planung/>
2. Gur-Zeev, Ilan, Salomon, Gabriel, and Vanhuyse, Pieter (2007), 'Against the Commercialization of the Universities in Israel: A Position Paper.' (In Hebrew.)
1. Vanhuyse, P. (2006), 'Early Childhood Social Policy as Human Capital Investment Strategy,' position paper presented at the Office of the Prime Minister of the State of Israel, Jerusalem, June 2006

F. NEWSLETTERS, PRESS CONTRIBUTIONS AND OTHER PUBLICATIONS

5. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2012), 'Does Population Aging Drive Up Pro-Elderly Social Spending?' European Social Observatory (OSE) Research Paper Series, No. 7, February, 9 pp.
4. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2012), 'Do Elderly Voters Lead to More Pro-Elderly Biased Welfare States? A Comparative Political Science Perspective on Aging and Generations,' Osservatorio ISFOL, special issue on active aging, Vol. 2, No. 2, pp. 55-64.
3. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2011), 'Y a-t'il un Sentiment d'Injustice Intergénérationnelle au Sein des États-Providence dont la Population Est Vieillissante? Examen de l'Opinion d'Étudiants Universitaires dans Huit Démocraties,' Lettre des Académies Royales des Sciences, des Lettres et des Beaux Arts de la Belgique, Numéro 22, pp. 8-9 (numéro special sur l'équité intergénérationnelle). (In French.)
2. Vanhuyse, Pieter (2011), 'Investigating the Relative Pro-Elderly Bias of OECD Welfare States,' Mainstreaming Aging - Newsletter of the UNECE Regional Implementation Strategy for the Madrid International Plan of Action on Ageing, Winter 2010-2011, p. 4.

1. Vanhuyse, Pieter (1996), 'Quasi-markten in de Gezondheidszorg: het Britse Voorbeeld', ('Quasi-Markets in Health Care: the Case of Britain'), Financieel Economische Tijd (The Belgian Financial Times), August 6th, 1996, p. 4. (In Dutch.)

G. ARTICLES, BOOKS OR OTHER WORKS SUBMITTED FOR PUBLICATION

4. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Cops for Hire: The Political Economy of Police Employment across German States, 1992-2008.'
3. Sabbagh, Clara and Vanhuyse, Pieter 'Perceived Pensions Injustice: An Analysis of Attitudes in Israel and the Former East Germany'
2. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Clusters and Reform Pathways of OECD Pension Systems: A Triangulation of Three Explorative Statistical Methods for 18 Societies, 1988-2003.'
1. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Taking Social Policy Personally: The Effect of Personality Traits and Regime Socialization on Welfare State Attitudes in Germany'

5. SCHOLARLY POSITIONS AND ACTIVITIES

5.1. EDITORIAL OFFICES:

Reviews Editor, Czech Sociological Review, published by the Institute of Sociology of the Czech Academy of Sciences: January 2008-to date.

- The Czech Sociological Review is one of only three Eastern European sociology journals that are ISI-listed and impact-factored. For my editorial mission statement, see: http://esreview.soc.cas.cz/upl/archiv/files/437\_2008-3Editorial.pdf

- Recent editorial highlights include:

- 9 book reviews published per issue on average; last three years have included contributions by: David Laitin (Stanford), Herb Gintis (Santa Fe), Zygmunt Bauman (Leeds), Stein Ringen (Oxford), Ivan Szelenyi (Yale), Linda Cook (Brown), Tomasz Inglot (Minnesota), Richard Rose (Aberdeen), Guglielmo Meardi (Warwick), Bill Robinson (UC San Diego), Catherine Bolzendahl (UC Irvine) and Andrew Roberts (Northwestern).
- A special review section entitled "Behavioral Economics for Sociological Purposes," on 5 books by Richard Thaler and Cass Sunstein, Joseph Henrich, Sam Bowles, Herb Gintis, Ernst Fehr et al., and George Loewenstein. See: <http://ssrn.com/abstract=1329586>
- A special four-essay Review Article Section on "Advances in the Study of Post-Communist States and Public Administrations," with contributions by Sean Hanley (University College London), Anna Grzymala-Busse (Michigan), Conor O'Dwyer (Florida), and Scott Gehlbach (Wisconsin-Madison). See: <http://ssrn.com/abstract=1341062>

5.2. EDITORIAL BOARD MEMBERSHIPS:

- Czech Sociological Review (1 June 2007-to date)

5.3. AD HOC REVIEWING FOR JOURNALS, UNIVERSITIES, AND PUBLISHING HOUSES:

American Political Science Review, British Journal of Political Science, Central European University, Comparative European Politics, Comparative Political Studies, Czech Sociological Review, Economics of Governance, European Sociological Review, Europe-Asia Studies, Journal of Baltic Studies, Journal of European Social Policy, Journal of Public Policy, Manchester University Press, the Policy Press, Regulation and Governance

5.4. INVITED EXPERTISE/INDEPENDENT PEER REVIEW:

4. May 2012-Dec 2013: Academic Jury Member, the German Demography Prize for Young Scientists 2013 on the theme of “youth quotas,” awarded by the Foundation for the Rights of Future Generations (FRFG) Stuttgart, and financed by the Appletree Foundation Learning Project for Co-evolution and Integration. See: <http://www.intergenerationaljustice.org/>
3. April-Oct 2012: ‘Global Economic Expert’ for the session on ‘Tackling Inequalities of Opportunities’ of the 2012 Global Economic Symposium (GES), Rio de Janeiro, October. See: <http://www.global-economic-symposium.org/symposium-2012/knowledgebase/the-global-society/tackling-inequality-of-opportunities>
2. Feb-Dec 2012: Main External Expert on the Central European Ageing Strategy, for the Central European Knowledge Platform for An Ageing Society, funded by the EU’s Regional Development Fund. See: <http://www.ce-ageing.eu/>
1. Nov 2008-July 2009: Main Evaluator for The European Foundation for the Improvement of Living and Working Conditions (EuroFound), Dublin (Ireland), an autonomous body of the European Union : EU Project No. 0222: "Lot 3: Evaluating Qualities of Society and Public Services in the EU" (Principal Investigators: Prof. Richard Rose and Prof. Kenneth Newton). See: <http://www.eurofound.europa.eu/index.htm>

6. TEACHING

- July 2011      The Strategic Politics of Central European Welfare Pathways: Power, Motives and Mechanisms
Doctoral course taught at the 7th ESPAnet Summer School organised jointly with Network of Excellence RECOWE (Reconciling Work and Welfare in Europe) of the European Commission’s Sixth Framework Programme (FP6) at the Central European University, Budapest (Hungary)
- 2nd Sem.      Introduction to Policy Analysis
2008/2009      BA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 1st Sem.      Introduction to Political Economy of Education
2008/2009      BA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 2nd Sem.      Comparative Political Economy of Human Capital
2008 & 2009      BA lectures held at the “Atidim” (Futures) program for gifted students from disadvantaged backgrounds, Hebrew University of Jerusalem (Israel)
- 2nd Sem.      Comparative Political Economy in a Global World
2006/2007      Intensive doctoral course co-taught with David Levi-Faur, at the Department of Social and Political Sciences of the Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Barcelona (Spain)
- 2nd Sem.      Comparative Politics of Human Capital
2006/2007      BA course at the School of Political Sciences, University of Haifa (Israel)
1st Sem. 2007/2008, 2008/2009 & 2009/2010
- 1st Sem.      Education Policies
2007/2008      MA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)

- 1st Sem. Comparative Political Economy of Public Policy
 2006/2007 MA course at the School of Political Sciences, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 2nd Sem. 2007/2008
 &.2008/2009
- 2nd Sem. Politics of Public Administration and Policy
 2005/2006 & Coordinator and Co-Lecturer of Honors Course for excellent BA students, taught at 2006/2007 the School of Political Sciences, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 1st Sem. Economics of Education
 2005/2006 & MA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)
 2006/2007
 2nd Sem. 2007/2008, 2008/2009 & 2009/2010
- 2nd Sem. Political Sociology of Change: Policy Reforms and Democratic Transitions
 2005/2006 MA course at the School of Political Sciences, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 1st Sem. Political Sociology and Comparative Social Policy
 2005/2006 MA course at the School of Political Sciences, University of Haifa (Israel)
- August Policy Analysis
 2004 & 2005 Course at PhD and MA level in the International University Institute for European Studies (IUIES) at the Institute for International Sociology of Gorizia (Italy)
- 1st Sem. The Politics and Economics of Education
 2004/2005 MA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)
- 2nd Sem.
 2004/2005, Education in Liberal Democracy: Foundations for Change
 2005/2006 & MA course at the Faculty of Education, University of Haifa (Israel)
 2006/2007
- 2nd Sem. The Politics and Economics of Welfare States: Advanced Topics
 2003/2004 PhD course at the Faculty of Social Welfare and Health Studies, University of Haifa
- August Political Sociology of Transitions
 2003 Course at PhD level in the International University Institute for European Studies (IUIES) at the Institute for International Sociology of Gorizia (Italy)
- Lent Term European Politics and Policy
 1998 BA course in the International Exchange Program of Hollins University, South Carolina (USA); London Branch (UK)
- Lent Term Microeconomics I
 2000 BA tutorial in the International Exchange Program of Hollins University, South Carolina (USA); London Branch (UK)
- Autumn Terms Social Economics
 1998, 1999, BA tutorial in the International Exchange Program of Hollins University, South Carolina (USA); London Branch (UK)
 2000 & 2001

7. SCHOLARSHIPS, AWARDS, RESEARCH GRANTS

1. Aug 2011
-April 2012      Vienna City Hall, Magistratsabteilung 24 (Austria)
Research contract for a comparative analysis of cash and in-kind services in social policy provision (Principal Investigator, with Michael Fuchs), 60,000 Euro
2. Dec 2010
-Dec 2011      Federal Ministry of Social Affairs, Labor and Consumer Protection, BMASK (Austria)
Research contract for a comparative analysis of activation policies for older workers in five European countries, 65,000 Euro
3. Aug 2009
- Aug 2010      Vienna City Hall, Magistratsabteilung 24 (Austria)
Research grant for a comparative analysis of welfare systems in six European metropolises (Principal Investigator, with Michael Fuchs), 80,000 Euro
4. April-May 2008
Aug-Oct 2008      European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research (Affiliated to the United Nations), Vienna (Austria)
Feb 2009
July-Sept 2009      Affiliate Visiting Researcher
5. May 2008      The Rockefeller Foundation, Bellagio (Italy)
Invited resident at the Villa Serbelloni and participant in the Florida International University Workshop on "The Future of Social Justice in Cuba." Full board and lodging.
6. April 2008      Haifa Centre for German and European Studies (Israel)
Research grant, 'The Comparative Political Economy of German Education Policies and Welfare State Policies,' 3500 Euro
7. Sept-Oct 2007      Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies, Cologne (Germany)
Research Visitor
8. Oct. 2003 - Higher Education Committee of the State of Israel
Sept. 2004      VATAT Postdoctoral Research Fellowship at the University of Haifa. Grant awarded: approx. 13,000 US$
9. Aug. 2003      The Rockefeller Foundation, Bellagio (Italy)
Guest resident at the Villa Serbelloni as a member of the Wye Foundation Project on cooperation in learning between Israelis and Palestinians. Full board and lodging.
10. Oct. 2002 - Higher Education Committee of the State of Israel
Sept. 2003      VATAT Postdoctoral Research Fellowship at the University of Haifa. Grant awarded: approx. 12,000 US$
11. Oct. 2001 - The Institute for Advanced Study at Collegium Budapest (Hungary)
March 2002      Junior Research Fellowship. Grant awarded: approx. 5,000 US$ in addition to full board and lodging.
12. Oct. 1999 - Fund for Scientific Research (FWO), Flanders (Belgium)
Sept. 2001      Scholarship of approx. 30,000 US$ awarded in support of doctoral studies at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), England.
13. Oct. 1997 - Rosebery Hall of the London School of Economics and Political Science (England)
Sept. 2001      Academic Resident as Sub-Warden: full board and lodging.
14. Oct. 1997 – Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC), UK
Sept. 2000      Scholarship of approx. 6,000 GB£ in support of doctoral studies at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), England.
15. Oct. 1997 - Fund for Scientific Research (FWO), Flanders (Belgium)
Sept. 1999      Scholarship of approx. 28,000 US$ awarded in support of doctoral studies at the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), England.

16. Oct. 1996 - The London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), England
 Sept. 1997 Tuition fee waiver of approx. 2,000 GB£ in support of MSc studies in European Politics and Policy at the Government Department.

8. ACTIVE PARTICIPATION IN SCHOLARLY CONFERENCES

8.1. CONFERENCE/PANEL/WORKSHOP ORGANIZATION

1. Director and organizer of Panel 218, Section 24 on "Generational Politics from a Comparative Perspective" at the ECPR 4th General Conference, Potsdam, Germany, September 2009 (with Achim Goerres, University of Duisburg). See: http://www.ecprnet.eu/conferences/general\_conference/potsdam/panel\_details.asp?panelID=218
2. Chair, Panel 2 on "The Internal and External Consequences of EUification, at the International Conference on "1989-2009: Taking Stock of East-West EUification," the Konrad Adenauer Conference Centre and the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, June 2009.
3. Director and organizer of a special five-day session on "Generational Politics: The Political-Sociological and Policy Consequences Population Ageing," Workshop 4 at the ECPR Joint Sessions of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR) in Lisbon, Portugal, 14-19 April 2009 (with Achim Goerres, University of Duisburg). See: http://www.ecpr.org.uk/lisbon/academic\_programme.html
4. Co-organizer of the Conference on 'The Governance of Unemployment' at the Institute of International Sociology of Gorizia, Italy, 8 September 2005, with Daniele Del Bianco, Institute of International Sociology of Gorizia. For the program, see: <http://www.summerschool.isig.it>

8.2. CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

1. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'The Political Economy of Population Aging and OECD Pension Generosity Retrenchment: The Different Logics and Timing of Small and Large Cutbacks,' paper presented at the 'Economics of Ageing' conference, Annual Meeting of the Austrian Economic Association, Vienna University of Technology, May 2012
2. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Cops for Hire: The Political Economy of Police Hiring across German Länder,' paper presented at the Joint Sessions of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), workshop on "Time and Temporality in Politics," Antwerp, Belgium, April 2012.
3. Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Pathways towards Gerontocracy: the Politics of Pro-Elderly Policy Bias in Central and Eastern Europe, 1990-2030,' paper presented at the Council for European Studies (CES) conference, Barcelona, Spain, June 2011.
4. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Expanding in Hard Times: The Context-Dependent Politics of Active Labor Market Spending, 1986-2005,' paper presented at the Joint Sessions of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), workshop on "Distributive Politics of Welfare", Sankt Gallen, Switzerland, April 2011.
5. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'The Political Timing of OECD Pension Generosity Cutbacks,' paper presented at the 8th Annual Conference of the European Social Policy Association Network (ESPAnet), Stream 18 on 'Financing the Welfare State,' Budapest, Hungary, September 2010.
6. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Elderly Bias, New Social Risks, and Social Spending: Investigating Change and Timing in Eight Programs across Four Worlds of Welfare, 1980-2003,' paper presented at the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), 4th General Conference, Section 24 on "Generational Politics from a Comparative Perspective", Potsdam, Germany, September 2009.

7. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'The effect of population aging on social policy effort in 21 welfare states: A total-government budget approach,' paper presented at the Joint Sessions of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), workshop on "Generational Politics: The Political-Sociological and Policy Consequences Population Ageing, Lisbon, Portugal, April 2009.
8. Tepe, Markus & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Are Mature Welfare States on the Path to the Politics of Gerontocracy? Evidence from 18 OECD Democracies, 1980-2002,' paper presented at the Foundational Workshop on Generational Politics in Ageing Societies, Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies, Cologne, Germany, July 2008.
9. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Educational Business Cycles: The Political Economy of Teacher Hiring across German States, 1992-2004,' paper presented at the Midwest Political Science Association, Annual National Conference, Chicago, USA, April 2008.
10. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Educational Business Cycles: The Political Economy of Teacher Hiring across German States, 1992-2004,' paper presented at the Foundational Workshop for the Network on Education and Skills, Max Planck Institute for the Study of Societies, Cologne, Germany, March 2008.
11. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Educational Business Cycles: The Political Economy of Teacher Hiring across German States, 1992-2004,' paper presented at the IFO Hamburg Germany, December 2007.
12. Tepe, Markus and Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Educational Business Cycles: The Political Economy of Teacher Hiring across German States, 1992-2004,' Political Economy Session of the Annual Meeting of the German Association for Social Policy, Munich, Germany, September 2007.
13. Sabbagh, Clara & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Intergenerational Justice Perceptions and the Role of Welfare Regimes: A Comparative Analysis of University Students,' paper presented at the International Sociological Association (ISA) Conference, Barcelona, Spain, September 2008.
14. Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Post-Communist Varieties of Democratic Capitalism: How early social policies shaped distributional conflict and welfare regimes,' European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), 3rd General Conference, Pisa, Italy, September 2007.
15. Sabbagh, Clara, Vanhuyse, Pieter & Schmidt, Manfred, 'Political and Economic Justice Perceptions in Changing Societies: The Case of Israeli and East German High School Students,' XXXI Inter-American Congress of Psychology, Mexico, July 2007.
16. Vanhuyse, Pieter & Sulitzeanu-Kenan, Raanan, 'Teachers' PAT: Revisiting Professor Moe on Multiple Role Principal Agent Theory,' Annual Conference of the Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics (SASE), Copenhagen (Denmark), June 2007.
17. Sabbagh, Clara & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Intergenerational Justice Perceptions and the Role of Welfare Regimes: A Comparative Analysis of University Students,' Conference of the International Society for Justice Research, Berlin (Germany), August 2006.
18. Sabbagh, Clara & Vanhuyse, Pieter, 'Attitudes towards the Welfare State: University Students' Views in Eight Democracies,' Conference of the International Society for Justice Research, Regina (Canada), June 2004.

8.3. PARTICIPATION IN INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOPS

1. Aug. 2006 University of Ljubljana, Slovenia
Summer School in Methods and Techniques: Course on 'Systematic Comparative Methods', organised by The European Consortium for Political Research
2. July 2006 Universitat de les Illes Balears, Palma de Mallorca, Spain

Summer School on 'New Perspectives on the Study of Poverty, Inequality and Redistribution', organised by The Society for the Study of Economic Inequality (ECINEQ)

9. COLLOQUIUM TALKS AND OTHER INVITED ADDRESSES

9.1. ACADEMIC TALKS (LAST TEN YEARS)

- Feb 2012     Université Libre de Bruxelles (Belgium)
Lecture at the Department of Political Science, Centre d'Etudes de la Vie Politique (CEVIPOL) on "Pathways towards a Pro-Elderly Welfare Bias in Central and Eastern European Countries (1990-2030): The Political Economy of Low-Level Gerontocracy"
- May 2011     Friedrich Ebert Stiftung Serbian Office and Belgrade University, Belgrade (Serbia)
The first Belgrade Lecture Series in Political Economy, on "The Comparative Politics of Social Welfare Policies in Postcommunist Democracies"
- March 2011     Széchenyi István University, Győr (Hungary)
Jean Monnet Chair lecture on 'The increasing pro-pensioner bias on social policies in Hungary: a political economy perspective'
- Jan 2011     Institut für die Wissenschaften vom Menschen/Institute for Human Sciences, Vienna (Austria)
Lecture on 'Low-Level Gerontocracy?' in the IWM seminar series 'Faces of Eastern Europe.'
- May 2010     The Institute of Labor and Family Studies, Bratislava (Slovakia)
Keynote speech on 'The Political Economy of Strategic Social Policies'
- Nov 2009     Max Planck Institute for Demographic Research, Rostock (Germany)
Presentation on 'The Role of Population Aging for Social Policy: Pensions and the Pro-Elderly Bias of Welfare State Spending'
- Nov 2009     Hertie School of Governance, Berlin (Germany)
Claus Offe seminar, presentation on 'Political Power, Parties and the Politics of Social Policy in CEE'.
- June 2009     Hungarian Academy of Sciences, Budapest (Hungary)
Report discussant, CEE launch of the Bertelsmann Foundation 2009 OECD Sustainable Governance Indicators Report.
- June 2009     Institute for European Studies, Université Libre de Bruxelles (Belgium)
Faculty presentation on "Comparative Politics in New European Democracies"
- April 2009     Department of Social Policy, University of Edinburgh (Scotland)
Faculty presentation on "The Comparative Politics of Generational Conflict in Social Policy"
- Oct 2008     AARP/European Centre High Level Policy Expert Meeting, Dürnstein (Austria)
Presentation on 'The Politics of Population Ageing in the New Europe: An Overview of Policies and Pathways since 1989' at the conference on "Reinventing Retirement: Reshaping Health and Financial Security for the EU 27 and Eastern Europe."
- Dec. 2007     European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research, Affiliated to the United Nations, Vienna (Austria)
Book launch: Divide and Pacify: Strategic Social Policies and Political Protests in Post-Communist Democracies.
- Nov 2007     Universiteit van Amsterdam (UvA), Department of Sociology and Anthropology (The Netherlands)

- March 2007 Presentation on 'The Political Sociology of Population Aging in Public Policy'
Jacobs University Bremen, Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities (Germany)
- March 2007 Presentation on 'The Political Sociology of Welfare States and the Role of Generational Conflict'
University of Haifa, Division of Public Administration and Policy (Israel)
- Febr. 2007 Presentation on 'Teacher's PAT? Multiple-Role Principal-Agent Theory and the Power of Bureaucrats' (with Raanan Sulitzeanu-Kenan)
The Max Planck Society, Institute for Human Development, Berlin (Germany)
- Febr. 2007 Presentation on 'The Politics of Generational Conflict: Comparing Western and Eastern European Policy Pathways'
University of Maastricht Graduate School of Governance (The Netherlands)
- Oct. 2006 Presentation on 'The Comparative Political Economy of Strategic Social Policies'
Amsterdam School for Social Science Research, and the Universiteit van Amsterdam (UvA): Department of Political Sciences, (The Netherlands)
- Oct. 2006 Presentation on 'Divide and Pacify: Strategic Social Policies and Political Protests in Post-Communist Democracies'
Hertie School of Governance, Berlin (Germany)
- Oct. 2006 Presentation on 'Divide and Pacify: Strategic Social Policies and Political Protests in Post-Communist Democracies'
Czech Academy of Sciences, Institute of Sociology, Prague (Czech Republic)
- Oct. 2006 Presentation on 'Czech Social Policy Exceptionalism in the Post-Communist Transition: A Comparative Analysis'
Charles University, Prague (Czech Republic)
- Dec. 2005 Center for Social and Economic Research Strategies (CESES), and Department of Social Sciences: Presentation on 'Czech Social Policy Pathways in the 1990s: A Political Economy View'
Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam (VU) (The Netherlands)
- Sept. 2005 Extra session of the International Research Seminar (IRS): Lecture on 'Strategic Analysis of Welfare State Developments in the New European Democracies'
University of Trieste, and Institute of International Sociology at Gorizia (Italy)
- June 2005 Conference on Governing Unemployment: Keynote opening address on 'The Governance and Politics of Unemployment in Contemporary Europe: A State of the Art'
Institute of Social Studies, The Hague (The Netherlands)
- Jan. 2004 Faculty seminar on 'Strategic Social Policies: Analyzing the New European Democracies'
Catholic University of Leuven (Belgium)
- March 2002 Department of Political Science: Lecture on 'The Political Sociology of Post-Communist Transitions'
Catholic University of Leuven (Belgium)
- The Public Economics Working Group at the Department of Economics: Seminar presentation on 'Divide and Pacify: Explaining Peace and Pensioners in Postcommunist Hungary and Poland, 1989-1996'

9.2. ADDRESSES TO GOVERNMENTS AND THE PUBLIC POLICY COMMUNITY (LAST TEN YEARS)

10. April 2011      International Social Security Week 2011, Mexico City (Mexico)
Keynote address to the conference jointly organized by the International Social Security Association (ISSA), the International Labor Organization (ILO), and the Inter-American Conference on Social Security (CISS) on 'Aging and Social Expenditure'
<http://www.issa.int/News-Events/Events/Social-Security-Week-2011-Promoting-a-Global-Prevention-Culture/Documents>
9. March 2011      Ministry of Labor and Family Affairs, Bratislava (Slovakia)
Special discussion Forum Lecture on 'The Political Economy of OECD Population Aging'
8. Dec 2010      38th General Assembly Meeting of the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research Member States, United Nations, Vienna (Austria)
Presentation on 'Six and the City: Comparative Indicators of Policy Constraints, Inputs, and Outcomes for European Metropolises'
7. Nov 2010      Bertelsmann Foundation, Brussels Office (Belgium)
Presentation on 'New social policy and human capital investment priorities for European welfare states' at workshop on Heterogeneous Social Europe
6. April 2010      Ministry of Education of the State of Israel, Jerusalem (Israel)
Presentation of main findings of the Adres, Vanhuyse and Vashdi (2010) study on 'Individual levels of globalism and the willingness of Israeli youngsters to serve in the army'
5. Feb 2010      Office of the Prime Minister of the State of Israel, Jerusalem (Israel)
Presentation of main findings of the Adres, Vanhuyse and Vashdi (2010) study on 'Individual levels of globalism and the willingness of Israeli youngsters to serve in the army'
4. Oct. 2008      36th General Assembly Meeting of the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research Member States, United Nations, Vienna (Austria)
Keynote Address: Re-Inventing Retirement: Political Constellations and Policy Challenges for the New Europe
3. Sept. 2007      Ministry of Finance of the Republic of Hungary, Budapest (Hungary)
Book launch: Divide and Pacify: Strategic Social Policies and Political Protests in Post-Communist Democracies (joint with the Central European University and the ELTE University of Budapest.)
2. March 2006      Office of the Prime Minister of the State of Israel, Jerusalem (Israel)

Personal address to the Prime Minister and Ministry of Finance and Ministry of Social Welfare Officials on 'Early Childhood Social Policy as a Human Capital Investment Strategy'

1. March 2004      The University of Malawi, Zomba (Malawi)
Two-day workshop given to senior Ministry personnel of the Government of Malawi within the United Nations Public Sector Capacity Building Program; Workshop topic: 'The Political Economy and the Economic Sociology of Education and Human Capital Policies'

10. MEDIA COVERAGE

3. The Washington Post: citation of working paper later published as Adres, Vanhuysse and Vashdi (2012) in feature on 'Israel Confronts Flagging Interest in Military,' by Janaine Zacharia, Sunday November 7, 2010.
<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/11/06/AR2010110604283.html>
2. Wien Heute TV, Ö1 Radio, Profil weekly magazine, Die Presse, Der Kurier, Wiener Zeitung, Salzburger Nachrichten, and Der Standard daily newspapers: coverage of press conference on the "Six Metropolises" study by Michael Fuchs, Pieter Vanhuysse and Bernd Marin at Vienna City Hall, hosted by the Viennese Councillor Sonja Wehsely, Thursday August 11, 2010 (published as Fuchs, Vanhuysse and Schmied 2010).
1. Israel Hayom, Ma'ariv, and YNet (Yediot Aharonot) newspapers: coverage of working paper later published as Adres, Vanhuysse and Vashdi (2012), 27 January 2010.

11. MISCELLANEOUS

LANGUAGE SKILLS:

Dutch	Mother tongue
French	Spoken, written, and reading fluency
English	Spoken, written, and reading fluency
German	Spoken, written, and reading fluency
Hebrew	Spoken good (graduate teaching level); reading and writing basic
Hungarian	Spoken basic

12. ENCLOSED DOCUMENTS

1. Names and addresses of referees
2. ISI Citation Index latest figures (published 2011) of journals containing own publications.
3. Foreword to Vanhuysse, Pieter (2006), Divide and Pacify, written by Professor Janos Kornai, Emeritus Professor of Economics from Harvard University, who has been recurrently short-listed in recent years for the Economics Nobel Prize.
4. Excerpts from 19 book reviews published on Divide and Pacify since publication in November 2006.
5. Excerpts from 6 book reviews published on Post-Communist Welfare Pathways since publication in November 2009.
6. Excerpts from 2 book reviews forthcoming on Ageing Populations in Post-industrial Democracies since publication in January 2012.

APPENDIX 1: REFEREES

Professor Janos Kornai

Corvinus University and Harvard University (Emeritus)

1093 Budapest, Fővámter 8, Hungary

Email: janos.kornai@uni-corvinus.hu

Dr Raanan Sulitzeanu-Kenan

Department of Political Science, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

91905 Jerusalem, Israel

Email: rasulke@mscc.huji.ac.il

Professor Zvia Breznitz

Faculty of Education, University of Haifa

Mt Carmel 31905, Haifa, Israel

Email: zviab@edu.haifa.ac.il

APPENDIX 2

Social Science Citation Index of Journals Containing All Peer-Reviewed Own Publications

JOURNAL	Impact factor (2011 figures in bold)
	2008	2009	2010	5-year IF 2006-2010
Journal of European Social Policy	1.164	1.192	1.673	1.672 (7/35; 9/39)
Journal of Social Policy	0.726	1.034	1.016	1.344 (14/36; 13/39; 13/35)
Social Policy &amp; Administration	1.000	0.857	0.855	1.1220 (15/36; 16/39)
West European Politics	1.422	1.469	1.558	1.539 (27/139)
Administration &amp; Society	0.941	1.053	0.944	1.235 (15/39)
Journal of European Public Policy (2)	1.806	1.294	1.541	1.945 (6/39)
Political Studies (2)	0.625	0.855	1.106	1.264 (35/141)
Armed Forces &amp; Society	0.417	0.762	0.615	0.960 (45/139, 61/129)
British Educational Research Journal	0.791	1.035	1.140	1.522 (44/177)
Public Choice	0.698	0.750	0.894	0.996 (43/139; 125/304)
Europe-Asia Studies	0.734	0.634	0.564	0.609 (17/60, 67/139)
International Journal of Social Welfare	0.631	0.494	0.724	0.985 (17/36)
Czech Sociological Review (2)	0.427	0.652	0.389	0.405 (80/129)
East European Quarterly (2)	0.093	0.158	0.118	0.165 (39/60)

APPENDIX 3: FOREWORD TO VANHUYSE, PIETER (2006), DIVIDE AND PACIFY, PP. XV-XVIII, BY PROFESSOR JANOS KORNAI, EMERITUS PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS FROM HARVARD UNIVERSITY

Foreword

While I am writing these lines, cars are aflame in the suburbs of Paris and other French cities. A state founded on the rule of law can obviously not tolerate vandalism. It should protect order and private property, and punish violent transgressions of the law. But that, of course, cannot be the only response. It is equally important for political decision-makers, their advisors, and researchers of social phenomena to explore what factors have led to these mass events. What social circumstances have generated the frustration of those young people who commit these acts of vandalism, and led to their rage bursting out in such criminal activities? The motives must include the mass unemployment affecting these young people, the depressing conditions prevailing in ghettos inhabited by immigrants, the neglected state of their education, their isolation, to a large extent self-imposed seclusion and their alienation from the majority population.

These recent French riots serve to demonstrate the importance of Pieter Vanhuyse's book. Divide and Pacify actually asks the reverse question. After the big changes of 1989–1990, unemployment in postcommunist Eastern Europe hit people without warning and as a shock. This phenomenon had been unknown for decades. Apart from its numerous cruel and dysfunctional features, the socialist system created favourable conditions for full employment. What is more, circumstances of the general shortage economy inevitably led to a chronic shortage of labour, which literally guaranteed job security. After 1990, all this ceased to exist with traumatic speed. It was not only “normal” unemployment—usual in capitalism—that suddenly emerged. Production, in fact, dropped severely and a “transformational recession” set in that proved to be deeper than the depression of 1929–32, which had been believed to be the most severe crisis in the era of capitalism. Jobs ceased to exist on a massive scale, either because of bankruptcies of a large number of firms, or because new owners, quite understandably from the point of view of economic efficiency, refused to pay wages to someone “unemployed on the job” (i.e. not needed, nevertheless kept within the company), or because the production of certain products ceased after a reorganisation.

“Why has this trauma not led to mass protests and social explosions that violated the law, overthrew the legal order or at least seriously hindered or stalled economic reforms” asks the author. Divide and Pacify applies careful analysis in order to find an explanation. This book sheds light on a thus far neglected aspect of the postcommunist transformations: the role of the state in preempting social protests by the strategic use of social policies, and how these policies have contributed to fast reform progress.

Let me point out two important phenomena here. One is that unemployment benefits were introduced before unemployment emerged in masses. (This had been unknown in the socialist economy. On the contrary; healthy people were legally obligated to take up some kind of work, or else they would be classified “parasites.”) The other phenomenon was that masses of people took early retirement after 1990. Legal regulations were amended to promote this, but something else played an even greater role. Employees were openly encouraged to retire or at least faced hints that they should do so. Large numbers of people were officially declared disabled; a practice that was tolerated and that came close to a violation of law. In order to obtain disabled status, reference had to be made to some kind of a health problem. Needless to mention, a health problem can, perhaps with a little effort, be identified in almost all people. Bureaucrats in charge of regulating the labour market and medical doctors issuing the certificates of disability sensed that they were expected to facilitate this process, rather than strictly safeguarding the relevant rules.

The evaluation of these developments from the point of view of economics is debatable if we take into account the efficient use of the labour force and the fiscal difficulties that emerged after paying the pensions to those who took early retirement or became eligible to disability benefits. This much, however, is certain: these social measures helped a lot in relaxing political tensions. As with the health of humans, preventing troubles is the most effective method to preserve a healthy functioning of societies. It is milder and causes less harm than combating an already manifested problem.

Pieter Vanhuysse is truly suited to explore and analyse these probing and complex social phenomena. If he were a narrow-minded political scientist, he would only be interested in the political aspects of events. If he were an economist with a one-sided vision, he would only focus on aspects of the labour market and the fiscal burden of social policies. Luckily, he is one of those few people who I would call a social scientist. He is a political scientist, an economist and a sociologist in one person. Through his original synthesis of insights from these various disciplines, he shows how an interdisciplinary perspective can help to make better sense of phenomena that appear to be puzzling, or that remain unaddressed, from the point of view of any one discipline. In addition, this book also draws our attention to larger political-philosophical and ethical aspects of social policies and post-communist transitions.

This is a book about Poland, Hungary, and the Czech Republic, written by someone who was brought up elsewhere. However, Pieter Vanhuysse approaches the problems of these countries with a multi-cultural attitude in the best sense. He is not one of those Western advisors who, during the transition, paid short visits with an arrogant feeling of superiority, thinking that they know very well what would benefit or harm postcommunist countries. While Vanhuysse knows a lot about the history and experiences of other countries, he came to Hungary with the primary purpose of observing and understanding, only then to draw conclusions from what he had learnt.

Divide and Pacify was inspired not only by the author's careful empirical work, knowledge of the international literature, competence and intellect, but also by his compassion and solidarity with people. It suggests that extensive social policies can be politically efficacious strategies, while never forgetting that such measures are needed to alleviate people's suffering in the midst of traumatic social changes. Pieter Vanhuysse is not one of those who get easily excited whenever people take apart roads, build barricades, throw cobblestones at police, set fire to others' property, or break shop windows. Anyone familiar with him knows that he is a gentle person who prefers conviction and understanding— something that is reflected in this book through a carefully measured tone of argument and an unbiased and nuanced phrasing of conclusions. But the core message of this book is important, and it has a larger relevance across many settings in which democratic governments face the task of implementing costly reforms in complex and uncertain policy environments.

When a young talent appears on the horizon, it might be useful if a more senior author draws readers' attention to his work. But from then on, the work will speak for itself. Pieter Vanhuysse's next book will surely not need a preface written by someone else. That is because his name will be familiar and respected by that time, also because of the values of this first book.

Budapest, November 2005

János Kornai
Professor of Economics, Emeritus
Harvard University and Collegium Budapest

Appendix 4: excerpts from 19 book reviews published on Divide and Pacify (2006)

1. Acta Politica, 2008, Vol. 43, No. 4, pp. 508-509.

"One of the most challenging and provocative publications that has appeared so far on the transformation of Central and Eastern European (CEE) welfare states... One of the numerous positive aspects of the book is that it provides a re-worked version of Hirschman's theory of exit, voice, and loyalty, which explains how politicians expanded the existing welfare state even in the presence of strong pressures from international institutions ... Of crucial importance...[is] not only the argument according to which welfare provisions can play a functional social pacifying role, but also, and this is the extremely innovative element proposed by Vanhuyse, dividing functions which do not necessarily lead to system-instability. .... a must read."

2. American Journal of Sociology, 2009, Vol. 114, No. 5, pp.1540-1542.

"In the countries of Central Europe, postcommunist politics turned out to be surprisingly subdued. In spite of a severe recession, high unemployment, and increasing inequalities, the region saw no major upheaval. This was not the only odd thing about the region. In another strange turn of events, in Hungary and Poland during the early 1990s, hundreds of thousands of people suddenly became disabled and retired or simply vanished from the labor market. ... Pieter Vanhuyse, in his lucid and brilliantly argued slim book Divide and Pacify, shows how the second oddity goes a long way toward explaining the first one. By connecting two puzzles he solves them both. ... Vanhuyse does not confuse clarity with reductionism. His explanation is neither overly deterministic—the Czech case shows that governments had choices—nor does it rule out other factors. ... Anyone who wants to write a more complete history of the Central European transition will have to read Divide and Pacify ... Vanhuyse's work is a major contribution to the study of the postcommunist transition, and as it builds its case by carefully marshaling evidence from sociology, political science, and economics with lucid prose, it speaks to a wide audience."

3. CEU Political Science Journal, 2010, Vol. 5, No. 1, pp. 134-137.

"Pieter Vanhuyse ... gives some well-crafted and thoughtful explanations of the collective actions of the population in [CEE] countries regarding the shock of unemployment. ... Showing how only an interdisciplinary perspective can really aid in better understanding an apparently puzzling issue ... It is an informative, concise, and analytical book which deserves every scholar's and political researcher's attention ... a complex book which encompasses political, psychological, economic, and sociological elements ... Economists of the post socialist countries and the political decision makers can also use these experiences to review and analyze their own political decisions already implemented ... a highly recommended research book."

4. Choice, 2007, Vol. 44, No. 11, p. 648.

"Vanhuyse ... utilizes quantitative data in a useful way in generating his conclusions. ... [and] argues that traditional explanations that center on economic, corporatist, structural, and political variables do not work very well in explaining this phenomenon. Instead, he provides plentiful data in support of his hypothesis that strategic social policies promulgated by the state preempted protests by providing economic benefits to the disaffected groups. ... Summing up: Recommended."

5. Comparative Political Studies, 2007, Vol. 40, No. 9, pp. 1142-1145.

"Pieter Vanhuyse has written a fascinating book on the phenomena of governmental policies and mass political behavior ... an important addition not only to the literature on transitional democracies, but to the larger body of democracy scholarship ... Vanhuyse explores a combination of macro- and micro-level determinants focusing on Polish, Hungarian, and Czech transitions from 1989 to 1996. The result is a fascinating theory that ties together governmental policies and mass political behavior. ... a vibrant synergy of political science, economics, and sociology rife with insights ... Vanhuyse significantly contributes to theoretical development in the field of democratic transitions and economic reforms as well as the field of comparative political economy of welfare states."

6. Czech Sociological Review, 2007, Vol. 43, No. 6, pp. 1213-1216.

"An innovative and thought-provoking approach ... a creative interaction between the literatures on the politics and sociology of contention and the comparative political economy of welfare states ... The greatest contribution of this book is a systematic analysis of the significant political consequences of decisions made by states in early transition and the path dependence that emerged as a result ... Vanhuyse makes a significant contribution ... by introducing a factor, 'strategic social policies,' which has not previously been analyzed."

7. East Central Europe/L'Europe du Centre-Est, 2010, Vol. 37, No. 1.

"Divide and Pacify ... not only offers a novel and provocative approach to the problems of policy and politics in transition, but also opens up an innovative research agenda for understanding the formation of political cleavages in East Central Europe today. ... There are several advantages to this approach, which render it an important contribution to scholarly inquiries into post-communist transition. For one, Vanhuysse emphasizes the strategic and purposeful action on the part of the governments, rejecting the accounts that see the development of social policies in the region as a byproduct of ad hoc, "emergency responses", or alternatively as a continuation of policies already laid out under socialism. ... [this is] what gives the book its provocative edge and broaches an interesting research agenda ... Vanhuysse's arguments ... outline a potentially very fruitful venue of inquiry: exploring the political decisions and cleavages of early transition politics in order to trace the ways in which these resulted in specific political configurations and potentials for conflict we observe today. As the second decade of transition unravels a lot less peacefully than the first, for anybody interested in the fate of East Central European democracies, this is a challenge that must be taken up."

8. European Sociological Review, 2008, Vol. 24, No. 3, pp. 409-410.

"A great book: smart, densely argued, tightly analysed and informative. We learn here a great deal about recent East European political history from what is a very original contribution. ... We learn a great deal about governance. ... Governments in Eastern Europe after 1989 have generally not benefited from overwhelming respect, but here a record is laid out that shifting governments have been effective and enlightened. We learn a great deal about social policy. This story is a confirmation of the proposition that social policies are always an instrument of rule, order and legitimacy. ... And we learn a great deal about political economy as an art of analysis. Vanhuysse presents theory, methodology and empirical analysis with equal force, blends them into a powerful and very interesting narrative.... Highly recommended" (Note: The only review published in this issue)

9. Europe-Asia Studies, 2008, Vol. 61, No. 3, pp. 518-519.

"A strikingly novel interpretation of the peaceful nature of economic transformation in the ex-communist states of Central and Eastern Europe ... with solid methodology and intelligent conclusions. ... Vanhuysse presents the rational calculations of the threatened workers to choose early labour market exit in a manner which can eradicate reservations of even the most committed rational choice sceptics. ... Vanhuysse shows that the legacy of applying informal solutions to the imminent problems has been an instinctive aspect of politics in East Europe. I consider ... [this] an original contribution to methodology literature as well as the literature of East European politics ... also presents clues to interpret some of the current economic and political problems in the CEE states. .. In order to understand the background for what is likely to come in East Europe, I would highly recommend Vanhuysse's book as an immaculate contribution to regional studies, political economy theories, and methodology."

10. Gerontology, 2009, 36(4), 117-120 [in Hebrew].

11. Intelligence & National Security, Vol. 25, No. 1

'One of the unambiguous advantages of the book is its clear and rigorous style of narration. Despite a highly complex research agenda and a contentious theoretical framework, the monograph, nevertheless, enjoys a swift yet powerfully persuasive logic and language of narration. This is further supported by a straightforward structure observing, in a professional academic manner, a theoretical framework dually immersed in the extensive body of scholarship and detailed analysis of collated evidence ... The study emerges as well-researched and skilfully crafted to accommodate the author's own theoretical assumptions. As a result, the book offers a cogent and substantiated account of events yielding a plausible explanation of how and why some countries effectively managed to avoid political discontent in undertaking painful and humanly costly economic and political reforms. The author succeeds in making his argument powerfully convincing and relevant to the area beyond the cases studied. For example, his theory sheds light on some seemingly contradictory social policies undertaken by governments in Russia and Belarus in particular. ... the book excels in delivering a novel and indeed persuasive analytical framework that complements existing explanations ... a must to peruse for students across a broad field of social sciences and ... by all accounts, an appealing and illuminating read.'

12. Journal of European Social Policy, 2009, Vol. 19, No. 2, pp. 186-188.

"In his thought-provoking book, Vanhuyse's main focus is on the early transition period. ... From the first word to the last, this well-written book is one straight line of thought, which makes it a pleasure to read and easy to capture and remember (and summarise). Additionally, it is very well embedded in the existing literature. Vanhuyse argues persuasively that – in spite of conditions for disruptive protests – the dual transition to capitalism and democracy evolved remarkably peacefully, against expectations. ... drawing mainly on political science, sociology and psychology, Vanhuyse constructs an innovative explanatory framework in which the strategic use of social policy and the role of local social networks are key variables. ... With his empirical analysis Vanhuyse not only confirms his thesis, but also presents an interesting account of how these early social policy choices led to different paths of social policy reforms within East Central Europe."

13. Journal of Social Policy, 2009, Vol. 38, No. 1, pp. 183-185.

"This book aims to provide an explanation for the acquiescence of populations in east-central Europe in the face of falling living standards and rising unemployment in the early and mid 1990s. A central place in the argument is given to social policy as part of a 'divide and pacify' strategy .... These social policies were important support both for the economic transformation and for the institutionalisation of democracy. ... Vanhuyse has directed attention onto an important issue in social policy formation in east-central Europe in the early 1990s. .... He provides a strong argument that elements of social policy served to reduce the potential for protest."

14. Political Science Quarterly, 2007, Vol. 122, No. 4, pp. 690-692.

"Vanhuyse does a good job of showing how aggrieved social actors in particular economic sectors or regions were politically isolated ... makes an important connection between the strategic allocation of welfare benefits and political consolidation of liberal market democracy—something you do not hear much about from the neo-liberals, who like to take credit for east-central Europe's historic transformation. ... The book makes a valuable contribution to the political economy of the post-communist transitions. The findings will be of interest to specialists in East European politics as well as generalists in labor and protest politics. It also should be required reading for policy technocrats, who, when it came to Eastern Europe's post-communist transition, were so forthcoming with economic advice and so reticent about political consequences."

15. Political Studies Review, 2010, Vol. 8, No. 1, pp. 132-133.

"Pieter Vanhuyse's book takes a fresh look at social policies in post-communist Hungary, Poland and the Czech Republic. It addresses the question of why, despite the severe social hardship of post-communist transformation, East European societies hardly engaged in distributive struggles and protest. The book's main claim is that policy makers in the region clearly understood the potentially explosive situation and strategically adopted social policies to 'divide and pacify' the working population. Thus Hungary and Poland, amid a steep transformational recession, adopted generous pension policies which allowed an important share of the working population to exit from the labour market by means of early retirement or disability pensions. ... This stands in contrast to the Czech development, where reformers initially prevented layoffs through softer budgetary constraints and therefore were able to avoid the pitfalls of a pensioners' welfare state. ... The book is well structured and written, and it adds an original argument to the literature on postcommunist social policies."

16. Slavic Review, 2008, Vol. 67, No. 2, pp. 473-474.

"In this well-written and lucidly argued book, Vanhuyse ... adds a convincing picture of how [employment and pension policies] were systematically applied as well as new data on their distributive effects. ... A fine first book by a young scholar who has entered forcefully into the conversation about dual transitions and comparative welfare states. ... It can profitably be read by specialists on the region as well as on labor and welfare politics, sociologists, political scientists, and economists and will be accessible and interesting to students of these topics at all levels."

17. Slavonic and East European Review, 2009, Vol. 87, No. 1, pp. 179-181.

"PIETER VANHUYSE's thought-provoking study takes as its starting point the question...: why did widespread early predictions that post-communist democracies would be convulsed by Latin American-style waves of social protest prove so wrong? ... Divide and Pacify develops a coherent, wide-ranging and persuasive re-interpretation of the politics of post-communist transformation, which smartly integrates work on comparative democratization, social movements, the sociology of unemployment, and the political economy of pension reform. As such, it offers both considerable food for thought and a powerful springboard for future research."

18. Social Policy & Administration, 2009, Vol. 43, No. 2, pp. 204-207.

"A double transition of momentous proportions has characterized the face of modern Central and Eastern Europe. The first is the shift within communist countries to post-communist societies; the second is the recent membership of the European Union of ten of these nations. [Divide and Pacify] provides intriguing insights into both of these changes. ... Vanhuysse seeks to marshal empirical data on industrial disputes to demonstrate that collective unrest was defused by the 'divide and pacify' strategies ... The use of the literature on collective action and protest, and the 'politics of contention', by the author is especially welcome. It is to Vanhuysse's credit that he, in contrast to certain other sociologists, openly acknowledges his debt to Tilly, as well as to other writers, and seeks to adapt their insights in order to develop the analytical framework. ... [This book makes] welcome contributions to the debate and this reviewer, for one, sincerely hopes that more authors will shortly follow suit."

(Note: The only review published in this issue)

19. West European Politics, 2008, Vol. 31, No. 3, pp. 632-633.

"Vanhuysse's analysis is underpinned by robust examination of a range of data. ... In collective action terms, abnormal pensioners did not represent 'disruptive dynamite' that had to be defused in the short-term. Rather they became a medium-term time bomb undermining welfare-state finances. All in all a very interesting, methodical analysis of how strategically informed socio-political strategies helped to institutionalise democracy and the market while leaving a heavy price tag in the form of belated macro-economic instability."

Appendix 5: excerpts from 6 book reviews published on Post-Communist Welfare Pathways (2009)

1. Contemporary Sociology 2011, Vol. 40, No. 1, pp. 19-20.

'Quite an extraordinary book. One rarely reads an edited volume in which contributors engage each other the way they do in this book. This is largely the accomplishment of the editors ... As with their earlier work they have set a tight, novel theoretical agenda, which stimulated and guided the exemplary crew who contributed to the volume. The volume offers a persuasive historical institutional analysis of East European welfare states ... this is a balanced evaluation of path-dependency and path departure, continuity and change. ... Pieter Vanhuysse persuasively argues that the construction of this emergency welfare state to a large extent was driven by immediate political needs of ruling political elites. In the new democracies the core of the electorate had to be protected from the high social costs of market transitions. In the Visegrad countries, sending laid-off workers into pensions, which were relatively well protected (p. 87) was the mechanism to buy political peace from older people who were more likely to vote anyway. In the Baltic States the same aim was achieved by not giving citizenship to the Russian minorities, hence dislodging class conflict into an ethnic one (pp. 68–69). These largely ad hoc, politically motivated emergency measures were frozen into lasting structures and this resulted in the hybrid character of post-communist welfare states, which carry elements of conservative, social democratic, and neoliberal systems. ... This is an agenda setting book, the most comprehensive, theoretically sophisticated work in the emergent large body of literature on post-communist welfare regimes.'

2. Critical Social Policy, 2010, Vol. 30, No. 4, pp. 594-596.

'Surprisingly, and in contrast to the voluminous literature on the economic transition from communism to capitalist democracy in Europe, the transformation of welfare after communism has remained largely uncharted. With the present edited volume, Alfio Cerami and Pieter Vanhuysse have gone some way to address this situation. In it, they bring together contributions on nine different post-communist countries and across a variety of social policy fields, in a wide-ranging discussion of institutional transformation and path dependency (and departure) in Central and Eastern European (CEE) welfare states. ... Power features explicitly in Vanhuysse's chapter, but elsewhere is more of an 'add-on'. ... Yet issues rooted in the transformation of power relations silently pervade the book – the chapters by Rat and Orenstein provide two illustrations ... this book is a step forward in the study of post-communist welfare.'

3. Social Policy & Administration, 2010, Vol. 44, No. 7, pp. 865- 867.

‘Cerami and Vanhuysse’s edited collection is an ambitious conspectus of the principal changes taking place in countries in the Central and Eastern regions of Europe. The focus is on the experience of the nine newer members of the EU. ... This cluster of countries forms what Offe in his closing chapter calls ‘terra incognita’, in terms of their welfare states. The editors’ intention is to chart similarities and diversities in the pathways of the development of the latter. ... Vanhuysse makes reference to them in his attempt to bring in power politics into the picture, deploying the categories of ‘voice’ and ‘exit’, which Hirschman (1970) developed in his seminal work. The dense aggregation of analyses in this book will repay dipping into and re-visiting, as there is much to digest here.’

4. Osteuropa, 2010, Vol. 10, pp.120-122 (in German)

„[Vanhuysse’s] thesis that postcommunist governments have used their state power in order to consolidate their own regimes through the preservation of social order in the sense of preventing protests, is plausible. This explains the practice of politically promoted early retirement in many countries in the early 1990s, which aimed to solve labor market problems. The results was rapidly increasing rates of dependency between contribution payers and pension recipients, which subsequently necessitated radical cutbacks one decade later. ... The existence of hybrid welfare state models runs like a red thread through the country case studies. ... The analysis of this trait, which has long been ignored by the social sciences, is the great merit of this book.’

5. Revue Française de Science Politique, 2011, Vol. 61, No. 4, forthcoming (in French)

‘The great merit of this book is that it offers a mass of new information on the evolution of postcommunist welfare states and proposes a wide range of instruments and concepts to understand it. The volume impresses by its historical depth and empirical richness. Its theoretical coherence and the debate engaged in by the different contributors are proof of excellent work by the editors. ... (this book) represents a necessary starting point for all those who want to understand the evolutions of the postcommunist welfare states.’

6. West European Politics, 2010, Vol. 33, No. 6, pp. 1402-1403.

„a valuable addition to the rapidly growing literature on Central and East European welfare states. ... The editors are to be commended for including policy areas and countries (such as Bulgaria and Romania) which have received inadequate attention in many comparative studies of postcommunist welfare states. The book integrates several strands of the existing literature – ranging from national social policy models to specific policy areas – which have rarely been examined together. This is very valuable, as it is only by confronting theories with detailed country case studies and analyses of specific policy areas that scholars will gain a nuanced understanding. ... The excellent concluding chapters by Stephan Haggard and Robert Kaufman and by Claus Offe contextualise the study of post-communist welfare states and raise a number of important issues for future research. ... No one interested in post-communist welfare states can afford to ignore this volume edited by Cerami and Vanhuysse, and it is likely to stimulate further research on this topic. Any scholar working on the region will learn a lot from this book, and it should also be of interest to academics studying welfare states in comparative perspective.’

Appendix 6: 5 book reviews forthcoming on Ageing Populations in Post-industrial Democracies (2012)

1. Canadian Journal of Political Science, forthcoming, 2012

2. Intergenerational Justice Review 2012, Vol. 7, No. 1, pp. 31-32.

‘This ... is a collection of articles which examine different aspects of the relationship between age and political power in advanced nations. In particular, several of the papers question whether older people show a greater inclination to vote following their logical self-interest, in support of parties who promise them more generous age-related benefits, or whether their voting decisions are based on a more complex range of factors. ... Taken together, the papers in this book ... present compelling evidence that some aspects of government policy are affected by the age of the electorate (particularly pension reform and generosity), while it seems that the interests of the elderly are not necessarily privileged during the design of labour market reforms.’

3. Journal of European Social Policy, forthcoming, 2012

‘Pieter Vanhuysse and Achim Goerres wish to shed light on the consequences of population ageing – one of the major policy challenges in advanced democracies. ... By including contributions that discuss a wide range of social policy areas (e.g. family, old age, labour, gender), the volume offers a much-needed broadening of the research agenda related to generational politics. ... One of the merits of this book is to demonstrate that to fit the label ‘generational politics’ the research agenda should comprise the life-course from the cradle to the grave. ... Ranging from small-n comparative case studies to formalistic, model-based analyses the contributions represent different ontological and methodological traditions. This methodological pluralism is refreshing and gives room for an inventive exploration of issues that a more stringent conceptual framework would most likely have rendered out of range. In short, the volume caters for a broad range of interests and everyone vaguely concerned with the consequences of population ageing for modern welfare states will find something useful.’

4. Political Studies Review, forthcoming 2012

‘The intergenerational conflict of interests is often framed in terms of a ‘war of generations’ ... this book offers eleven chapters that sketch a more nuanced picture, by answering a wide variety of questions with different methods and at different levels of analysis. .... This plurality of approaches is where the strength of the book lies; it allows the reader to understand the issue on many different levels. The volume provides important findings for those interested in the politics of ageing democracies, and the editors do an excellent job of placing the contributions within the larger debates in the literature.’

5. Swiss Political Science Review, forthcoming, 2012